Bridgehead IT Announces Strategic Partnership with SideKick Operators, Forms Bridgehead IT Holdings

San Antonio, TX — Bridgehead IT, a leading provider of enterprise-level IT solutions, today announced the formation of Bridgehead IT Holdings ahead of accelerated growth. The new company is the result of a strategic partnership between Bridgehead IT and SideKick Operators, an operationally focused investment and advisory firm that specializes in advising businesses on large-scale growth and expansion.

“We are excited to partner with SideKick Operators,” said Wes Bunch, CEO of Bridgehead IT. “We are well positioned to be the partner of choice for businesses seeking leading-edge, enterprise IT services. Together, we are confident that we can reach more businesses with our turnkey technology solutions that support every size company and industry.”

This partnership is a significant step forward for Bridgehead IT. With the support of SideKick Operators, the company is well-positioned to achieve its goal of becoming a nation-wide leader in enterprise-level IT solutions.

“Bridgehead IT is a great example of a company that is poised for tremendous growth,” said Justin Steen, CEO of SideKick Operators. “They have a strong team in place, a proven track record of success, and a clear vision for the future. We are thrilled to partner with them and share in their mission.”

As part of the partnership, SideKick Operators will provide Bridgehead IT with proven strategic guidance and access to its network of relationships. This will allow Bridgehead IT to strategically expand to new locations, grow its workforce, and acquire complementary businesses.

“This partnership is a major milestone for Bridgehead IT,” said Bunch. “It will allow us to take our business to the next level and redefine the future of how companies are powered by technology.”
